Chairman's message

This is the action program that Al Gore has called for.

As audacious as it is unique, it aims at creating the climate change leaders of the future.

The Arctic Climate Leadership Challenge will help build our nation's capacity to adapt to the climate challenges we'll soon face.

Whilst it's a uniquely Australian answer to an urgent global challenge, we also want to take it to the world, particularly developing countries, and allow young people everywhere to acquire the skills, knowledge and self-confidence to help lead a new world.

Investing in tomorrow's leaders is today's smartest climate change strategy.
